1948

First local council

Local autonomy was systematically guaranteed in the Constitution.

1952

Local council elections

Local autonomy was first implemented through local parliamentary elections.

1961

Suspension of local autonom system

5.16 The local autonomy system is suspended due to the military coup and the local council is dissolved.

1990s

Revival of local councils

In 1988, discussions on the implementation of local autonomy by Roh Tae-woo, the leader of the Democratic Party of Korea, began in earnest. In March and June 1991, municipal and provincial elections were held, respectively, and four local elections were held in 1995. The era of full popular autonomy opens.

PRESENT SYSTEM OF ADMINISTRATIVE AGENCY in MUNGEYONG

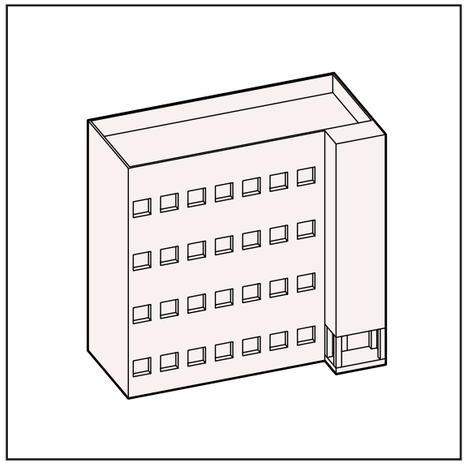

MONOPOLY OF POWER

Currently, most of the interior of the Mungyeong City Council building consists of work spaces to see administrative affairs. Ownership of administrative agency buildings dealing with administrative power is limited to public officials.

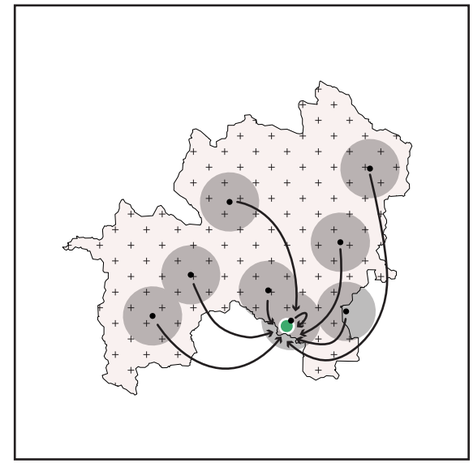

TOO LIMITED TO DO SOMETHING FOR CITIZENS

The open space for citizens is limited. Mungyeong City Hall has a general civil service office, which waits for an answer after an individual submits a complaint to a public official. If citizens themselves do not file complaints, there is no place to look into the entire society of Mungyeong-si and pay attention.

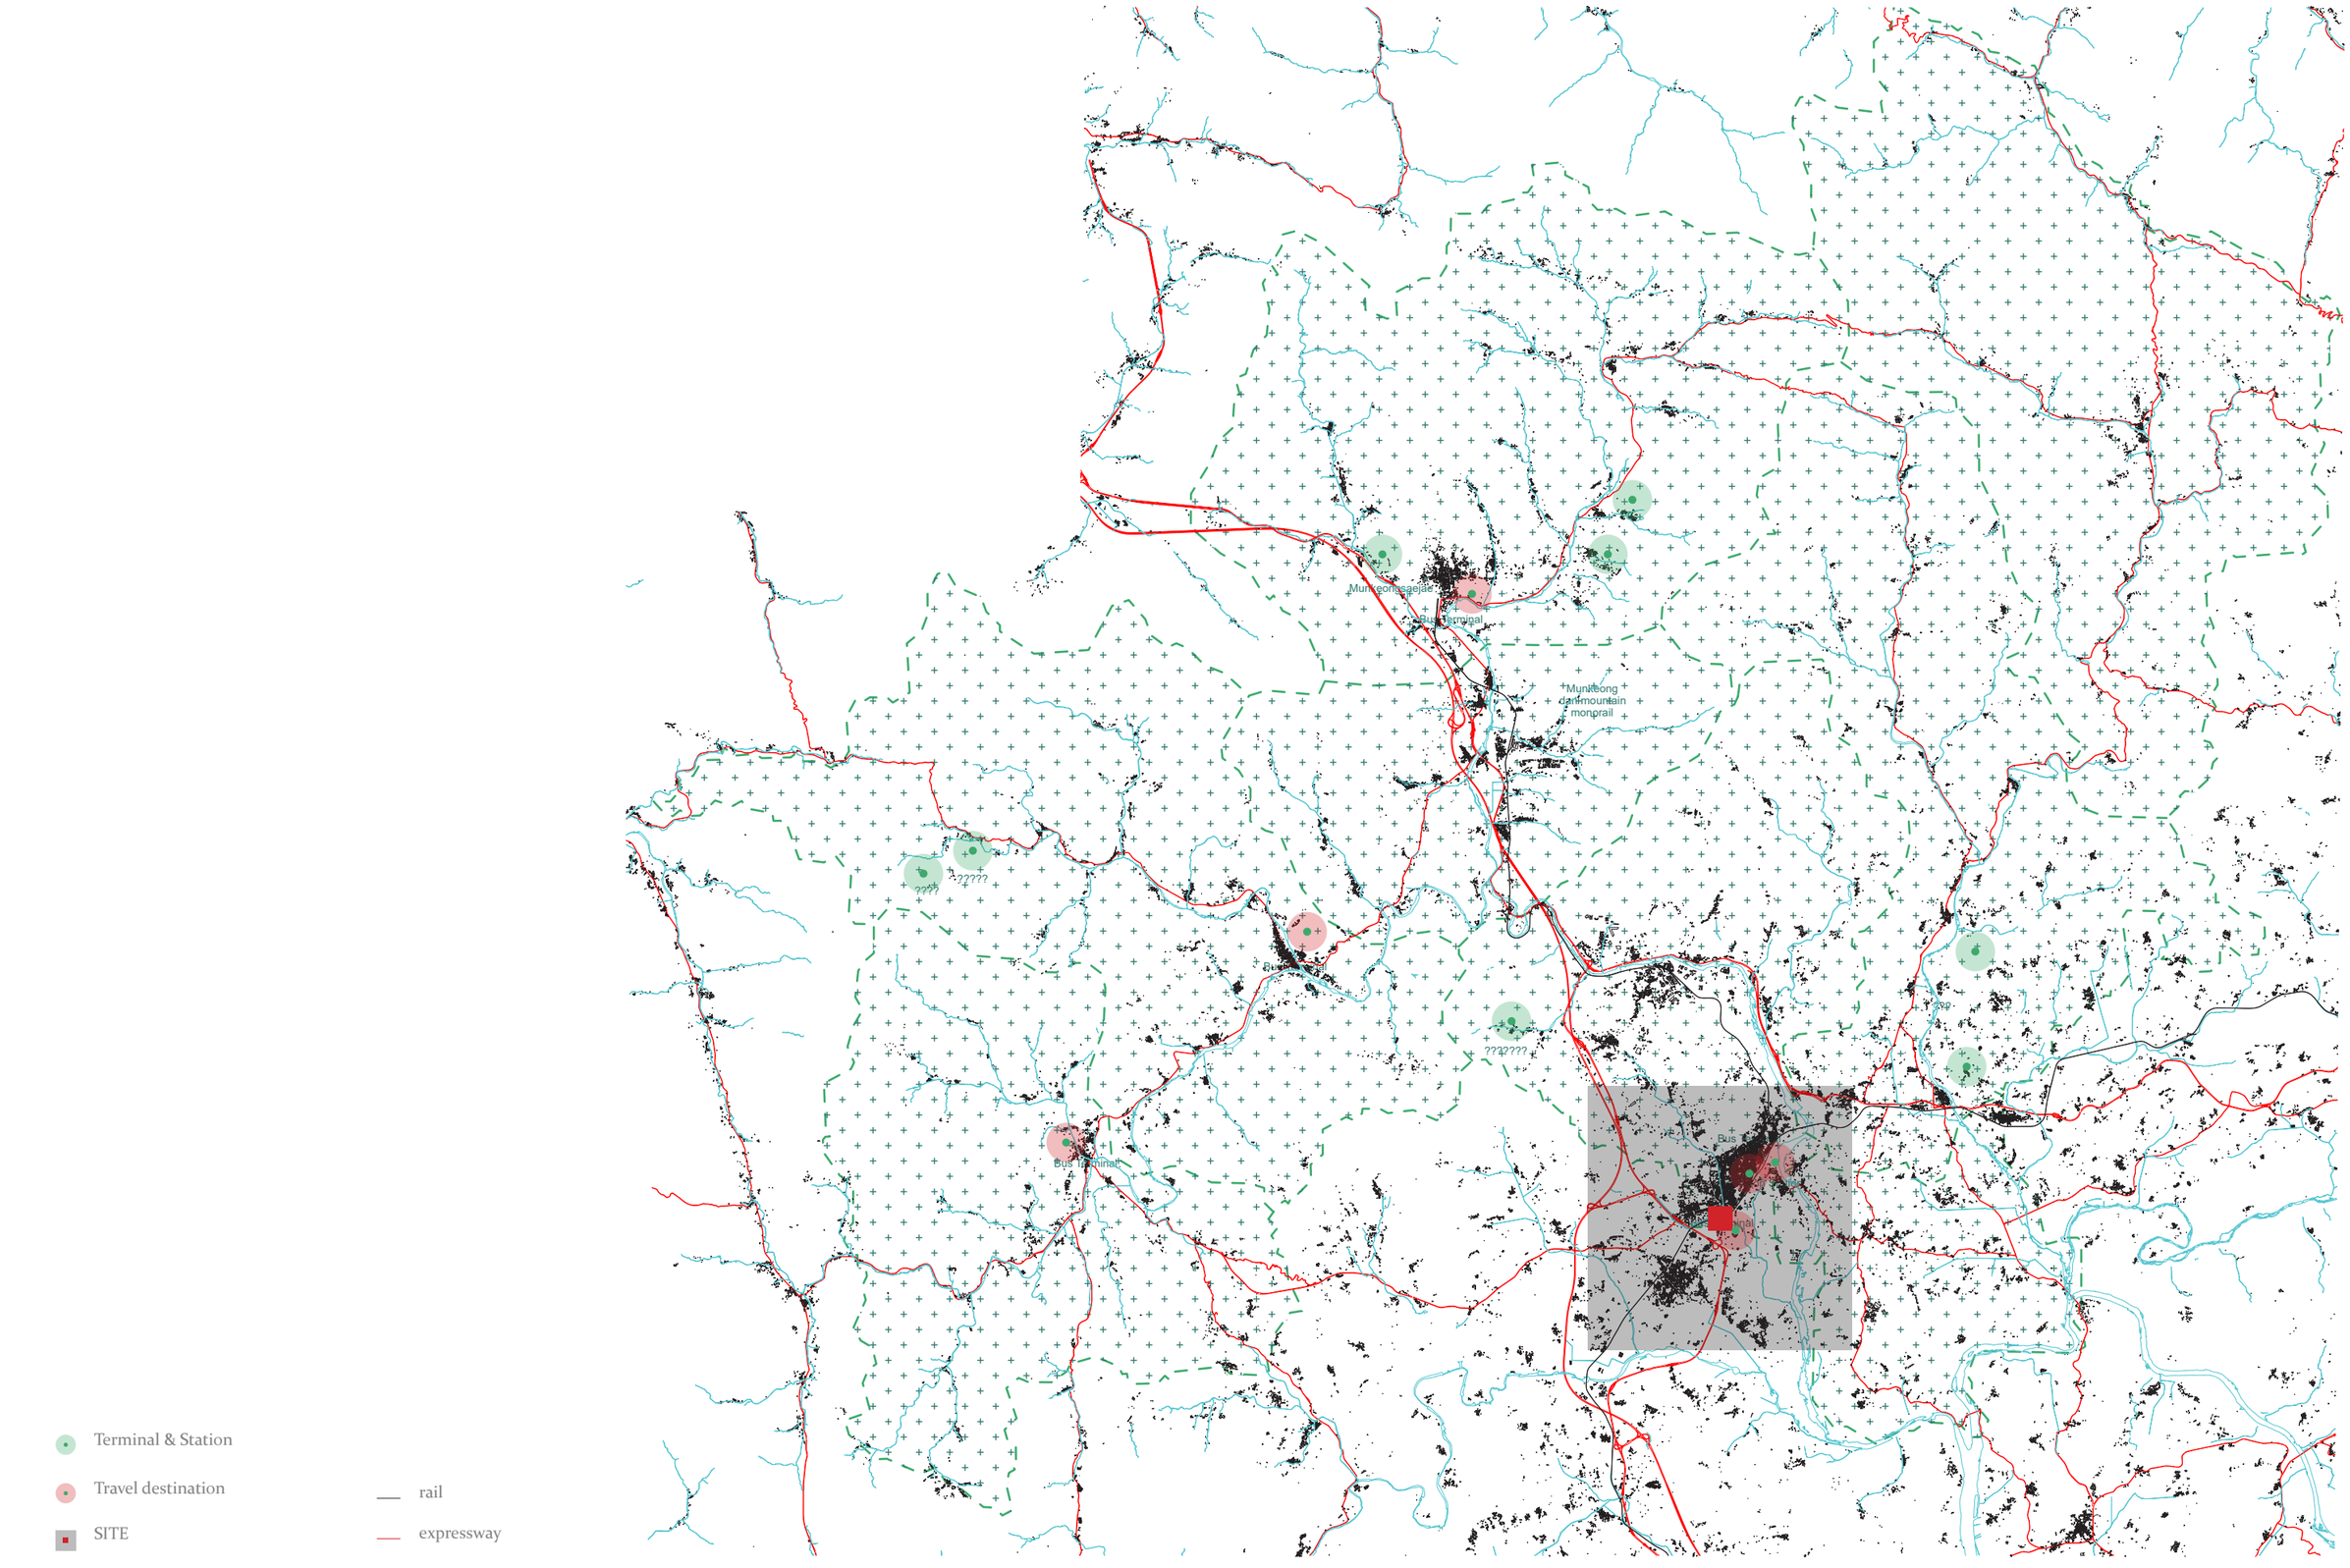

UNFAMILIAR

If there is no clear purpose of complaints, it is easy for each citizen to think of the city council and the city hall as "a place that has nothing to do with me." In addition, it can only be recognized as an uncomfortable space due to the hard image of civil complaints.

ONE-WAY COMMUNICATION

Mungyeong City Council and Mungyeong City Hall are located at the southern end of Mungyeong City and are obligated to communicate with Mungyeong citizens spread throughout. Individual citizens can hear their opinions online, but there are limitations. If they do not face the top administrator, they will not understand each other's existence, become indifferent to accepting the policy execution process, or lose trust.

1

City hall and city council be located separately

2

It inserts public space with adjacent practice between the two administrative agencies.

3

Fill in the programs on a given site.

4

Place interface programs in contact with public spaces.

5

As the public space is pixelated, it creates a yard shared with the administrative interface.

6

The inside of the administrative agency is pixelated and divided into groups. At the same time, it opens the way to connect with the adjacent road.
